

In favour of a Europe of Nations

Excerpt from the ADR program for the European elections

ADR stands for

- a Europe of sovereign Nations;
- decision-taking by unanimity on all important issues, such as foreign policy and fiscality;
- the recognition of Luxembourgish as an official language in the European institutions;
- a single market and a single currency without transfers;
- the respect of the Maastricht criteria on the Euro;
- national competence in fiscal matters and the refusal of European taxes;
- a notable enhancement of the European social standards;
- the protection of the Luxembourgish financial centre, especially after-Brexit;
- freedom of speech and a free internet without censorship or software filters;
- a Europe respecting human rights and democracy everywhere;
- an exclusively national competence in societal and family policies;
- open inner borders and secure external borders;
- an exclusively national competence in migration matters;
- the introduction of asylum demands outside the territory of the Union;
- a quick return to their countries of origin of refused asylum seekers and of those persons for whom an international protection is no longer necessary, in conformity with international law;
- a European Union without Turkey;
- a collaboration in security matters, without the unnecessary creation of a European Army;
- a notable reduction of bureaucracy for farmers and winegrowers in the context of the common agricultural policy
- an efficient protection of our environment and climate, but without any ideological approach;
- a determined protection of the animals
